I am new to your forum, but have been watching your feeds for quite some time.

I would first like to say thanks for all the helpful information.

I would love to see a video on installing and setting up an ESX Server.

Hey all,

I'm not sure what the lads are up to these days but I'd say they are busy enough with life/work/website. So to try and help I'll post a video on here of an ESX server build. I will be building an ESX server over the coming days for work and I will record the process and try and post it here.

There will be no audio with the recording but if you have questions I will try and answer here.

Cheers,
